BOOST IN CITY TAX RATE COMING Screen Star Wins Verdict In Protracted Kidnapping Case

TWO CONVICTED OF CONSPIRACY FOR KIDNAPING MARY PICKFORD

Jury Returns Decision Following Deliberation of Four Hours

THIRD DEFENDANT RELEASED

Ransom Price of $200,000 Said To Be Contemplated Demand

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 13.—Claude A. Holcomb and Charles Stevens were found guilty of conspiracy to kidnap Mary Pickford, screen star, by a jury composed of nine men and three women in Judge Victor McLucas' court today.

ONE ACQUITTED

Adrian Wood, the third defendant in the kidnapping case, was acquitted. Wood was not in the company of Holcomb and Stevens when they were arrested, and the state could not connect him with alleged conspiracy to the extent that it could the others.

DELIBERATED 4 1/2 HOURS

The verdict was returned after 4 1/2 hours deliberation that followed the three weeks of trial.

RELEASING MAY 30

The three men were arrested May 30 on a conspiracy charge. Holcomb and Stevens were taken into custody in front of the Fairbanks-Pickford picture studio where, police say, they were awaiting for the screen star to appear. Wood was arrested later.

HUGE RANSOM

The men were charged with conspiracy to kidnap Miss Pickford and hold her until her husband, Douglas Fairbanks, handed over a ransom of $200,000.

RICHMOND NIMROD'S LOSS OF POPULARITY FINALLY EXPLAINED

Murder will out. So will other things. This Duke Evans has found out to his chargin'. Duke returned several days ago from hunt in the northern counties in company with several other Richmond Nimrods. Their return was heralded because they brought back five pronged victims, and for a time the exciting event of the trip was overlooked.

But yesterday the truth leaked out. It had been observed that in spite of venison feeds, the Duke was not enjoying his customary popularity among his companions of the hunt. Then it was discovered that he had been run out of camp and kept out from dawn to dusk for bringing into camp a pretty black and white kitten on the end of a pitchfork.

MURDERER GOES WILD IN COURT

Sensational Climax Comes When Prisoner Makes Attack On Witness

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 13.—William Rhinehart, convicted murderer, now on trial for robbery, made a bodily attack yesterday on Harry Schneider a witness for the prosecution. The attack came as a sensational climax to a day of thrills in the court of Superior Judge Michael J. Roche, where Rhinehart is being tried.

"YOU'RE A LIAR"

During the morning session, when Schneider was on the stand, Rhinehart started court attacks by leaping suddenly to his feet and cursing the witness.

"You're a liar," shouted the prisoner. "You'd say anything the police told you to."

GOES DOWN CURSING

He was pulled back into his seat by court officers, still cursing, after Judge Roche had vainly ordered him to sit down and keep quiet.

The next sensation came when the news leaked out that Judge Roche, fearing an attempt at rescue by gangsters who were congregated in the lobby outside the courtroom, had sent a secret message, asking a heavy police guard, to Chief of Police Daniel J. O'Brien.

The squad arrived, cleared the corridors and guarded the room.

SENSATIONAL NEWS UPHELD BY DEBATERS

"Should Sensational News Items Be Barred from Newspapers?"

This is the subject of an animated debate before the members of the Richmond Lodge of Moose in Moose hall last night.

The negative side of the question, by bringing forth iron-clad arguments completely overwhelmed the affirmative in the opinion of the judge, E. Forwick.

The negative was upheld by Pat Doody, Zeb Knott, A. S. Ridley, while the losers lost through A. J. Pendleton, B. A. Nicholson, and M. J. Phillips. It was reported that the judge gave the best talk of the evening.

A debate a week has become a habit with the local Moose. It was inaugurated by C. F. Donnelly in the belief that it would give the speakers confidence on the floor. Three speakers are chosen for each side and they are compelled to speak for two minutes on a subject not known to them until they are ready to speak.

Three new members were accepted into the lodge at the business session. They were J. M. Oberg, W. G. Hass, and O. W. Little.

One visitor was present from Shasta Lodge and one from Tucson, Ariz. Director William Vosbeck presided.

Deficit Must Be Met by Adding Eighteen Cents to Tax Schedule

Richmond's city tax rate for the fiscal year 1925-26 will in all probability be $2.18 for every $100 of assessed valuation, or 18 cents greater than last year's rate of $2.00.

This was the opinion generally expressed by members of the city council and the chamber of commerce at an open meeting held by the two bodies last night at the city hall for the purpose of discussing ways and means to meet the deficit, caused by the extensive wharf building program for the year.

The increase in the tax rate is made necessary by the work to be done this year in deepening the wharf channel. At first it was suggested that bond issue election be called, but this was declared not feasible due to the fact that it is so late in the year.

The budget for 1925-26, as submitted to the city council by City Manager J. A. McVittie several weeks ago and approved and adopted by that body, calls for the raising by taxation of $494,500 at the tax rate of $1.86. The library tax and city school tax was added to this figure, however, and it was expected to raise the rate higher.

At the time he submitted the budget McVittie stated that the tax rate for the coming fiscal year would not exceed last year's rate of $2.00.

New appropriations carried in the budget provide for $24,000 with which to complete the Richmond natatorium; $25,000 for installation of new fire hydrants; and $6,000 for the Macdonald avenue improvement in front of Nicholl Park.

Giant Crossing on Santa Fe Line Condemned as Menace to Autoists

PINOLE—Aug. 13.—The Contra Costa County Diamond Jubilee celebration to be held in Pinole from August 27 to 30, promises to be the largest and most unique carnival ever held in the county.

LIKE PIONEER TOWN

Pinole is fast taking on the appearance of a typical '49 town. False fronts are being erected in front of the business houses; streamers of lamps of the jubilee colors are being placed across the main streets; banners depicting scenes of early days are suspended across the highway; the Shell Oil company has painted a remarkable picture on the building facing their property. This picture is a scene of an early caravan of oxen passing in front of Mount Diablo.

MANY CARNIVAL FEATURES

One of the longest blocks in Pinole will be utilized for the carnival, and almost all of the available space has been reserved for a merry-go-round, ferris wheel, baby earoplane ride, various side shows together with the celebrated "Days of '49 of Slippery Gulch" and forty other concessions of fun making ability.

SPARE NO EXPENSE

Together with the amusements furnished at this event will be one of the largest industrial exhibits ever held in Contra Costa county. (Continued on Page 8)

Series of Fires Keep Crews Busy

Grass in considerable quantities was burned in the city of Richmond yesterday.

The largest grass fire of the day broke out shortly after one o'clock at Thirty-seventh street and Stege avenue. Engine company No. 4 was detailed to the scene.

At 1:35 p. m. a call for more apparatus was sent into the station house. Chemical company No. 1 was detailed. The apparatus was out over two hours, the fire burning over a large area but causing no property loss.

At 1:52 o'clock a telephone alarm informed the department of a fire at Second street and Macdonald avenue. Engine Company No. 2 was detailed. No damage was done.

Another grass fire broke out shortly after 2 o'clock. This was near Grand Canyon park. Chemical No. 1 was detailed and put out the blaze.

"FREE" RUSSIAN CHILDREN

We are told by a Moscow correspondent that one of Russia's greatest unsolved problems is to relieve the thousands of vagrants, destitute children and unemployed, who overflow every city.

The greatest of these evils is the number of destitute children, which the bolshevik commissioner of education has termed "the most terrible ulcer on the soviet union's body." Many of these children, it is said, are addicted to drugs and others are infected with disease. All are a positive menace.

According to M. Lunacharsky, the commissioner of education, who is directly quoted, "hundreds of thousands of these children, have degenerated into a state of semi-savagery, some bordering on idiocy, while others have had their wits so sharpened, and excited by collision with life that they have become dangerous enemies to society."

Legions of adult paupers clutter every street and squat in front of every church, crying "bread, please, bread."

The commissioner of education, a staunch communist admits that the problem of destitute children is beyond the control of the state, and in his appeal for public funds he asks for private aid, stating that otherwise all efforts will be useless and "the great stream of vagrant children will not only pay a horrible tribute of death but will develop into a polluting flood, poisoning the entire current of life."

Here is food for thought of our American reds who talk about freeing our American children from the "chains of capitalism" by turning them over to the tender mercies of a communist state.

ATTACKING THE TARIFF

Now that Europe owes the United States more than twelve billions of dollars in direct loans, in addition to large private loans the demand for a change in our international policy to make the repayment of these loans easier, is gradually increasing. The principal assault is on our protective tariff.

The economists of Europe and those in our own country who think along European lines, say that our protective tariff wall should be abolished so that Europe can pay what she owes Uncle Sam in cheap goods, and they are doing what they can to shape public opinion in the United States along free trade lines.

Fortunately, however, for the good of America, these efforts are meeting with little success. They are not the policies of the present administration, nor are they the accepted policies of the American people.

If the tariff wall were lowered and an avalanche of cheap foreign goods poured into America, the European debt would not be paid by Europe but by America, at the expense of American industry. American labor and the American standard of living. The great bulk of the people realize this just as President Coolidge realizes it, and Europe's friends in America and elsewhere will have to think up some different scheme for easing the payment of that debt.

TO SPITE ONE'S FACE

If you buy out of town and I buy out of town, what is going to become of our town? No community, large or small, but has some individuals who think it is cheaper to patronize eastern mail-order houses than to buy from their home merchants. They do it without thinking and without considering three important things:

1. The mail-order house pays no taxes in your town. If it was left to the "foreign" concern, you would never have better roads, street curbs, municipal bands, and other civic advantages.

2. The element of time. You think you want something and order it, but, many times, it takes so long to get it that you are out of the notion when it arrives. More often, what you receive is not exactly what you thought you ordered or what you want, but, rather than send it back, you keep it.

3. Nearly everyone, at some time, has had to ask credit. Did anyone ever get credit from a mail-order house? It costs money to do a credit business, and the average merchant many times is confronted by serious problems over this item alone.

The American Bankers' Association urges that prospective purchasers of bonds consult their bankers before buying, unless they are thoroughly familiar with the securities offered. It's a good idea. Reputable bond salesmen won't object. The other kind may—and that's why it's a good idea.—Stockton Record.

Fifty years ago there was more thinking in America than there is today. Why? Because there are so many distractions in modern life that we do not have the solitude, the isolation, the long and quiet hours conducive to reflective thought that characterized the age of Lincoln.—San Luis Obispo Tribune.

Another good memory test is to try to remember the peace plan that won the Bok award. Macon Telegraph.

Wear Amber If You Want to Be In the Vanguard of a New Fashion.

them to light, for amber has quite suddenly acquired fashionable distinction. For many women pearls, even the monstrously large ones, still retain their charm. You have only to notice the admiring glances cast toward a shop window or show case where such bijouterie is displayed to realize the truth of this, or to see how many women, even among those who can afford something new, still wear strings of beads called pearl wound around their necks, their wrists and their arms. Still to some women these multifarious imitation pearls have lost their pristine charm.

Coral has suddenly been worn as a sort of antidote, and now come amber beads. Amber like pearls is a stone with no ordinary origin. The mineralized resin of long extinct pine trees, it seems to be rather difficult to imitate successfully. To be sure there are imitation amber beads and other similar ornaments, but they seem to lack the soft rich color of the true product. Naturally enough amber exists in various shades and tones. Some of it is almost a lemon yellow or straw color while some is on a reddish cast. And of course there is clouded amber and a much clearer sort—and in rare instances it is perfectly transparent. The amber enthusiast will tell you of all sorts of interesting varieties. From Cantania he will tell you there is derived amber possessing a peculiar overlay of a purplish tone.

Interestingly enough it has ever been more highly prized by Orientals than by Occidentals, who for long years in the last century had little use for it save to put in show cases of museums or to make mouth pieces for pipes. It would have been considered quite eccentric for a lady of fashion to wear a chain of amber round her neck.

Undoubtedly the reason that amber universally possessed the reputation of being supernatural and why it was held in veneration in so many lands was because of its capability of becoming charged with negative electricity when rubbed.

It is only within comparatively recent years that the origin of amber has been understood. The Greeks and other ancients tried their best to account for it. The Greek explanation was that the Helladien were transformed into poplar trees, and that the tears they shed formed amber.

We have pretty strong evidence that it is derived from resin of extinct pine trees—possibly other sorts of tree. But we live in too open-minded an age to dismiss with a wave of the hand the widely circulated opinion that amber benefits the wearer. Possibly, you know, its electrical properties exert wholesome effect on us if they don't exactly cast out evil spirits and screevers.

THE LIMITED MAIL

by
ELMER E. VANCE

Novel by William Basil Courtney
Copyright, 1925, by Warner Bros.
"THE LIMITED MAIL" with Monte Blue, is a picturization of this story by Warner Bros. Pictures, Inc.

SYNOPSIS

Jim Fowler, the mail clerk, has induced Bob Wilson, the young tramp, to seek a railroad job and settle down with him in Crater City. The two are on the way to the yards when they meet Potts, a former companion of Bob's. Potts is accused of a theft of which Spike, another hobo, is guilty. Jim and Bob expose Spike and he is taken into custody. The guilty vagabond is being led away when, suddenly he grabs the spike attacking Jim. Jim, who had accepted an offer to make to him, bolts his throat.

The attack came too suddenly and too unexpectedly for any of the onlookers to interfere. Bob's own wariness was all that saved him; he caught the terrible arm when its razorlike tip was so close that it pricked a drop of blood from his throat. An instant later Spike went flat and cold from a smashing right fist which Bolts Moran had unleashed almost simultaneously with Spike's murderous thrust. Handcuffs were clamped on Spike while he was still unconscious, and the detectives bore him away to temporary confinement in the headquarters building until he could be turned over to the local authorities. "Narrow shave," laughed Bob, brushing the blood drop from his Adam's apple.

"You're a cool customer," sputtered Bolts. Jim had told him, during their short walk from the roundhouse before meeting the detectives, that Bob sought work; so, inspired by Spike's mistake in the connection of Bob with the arrest, Bolts now proposed abruptly, "There's always a chance for bright, cool guys with the Road's detective staff. I can fix it for you. What say?"

Bolts tried to look pleased

Reward

Sure he was unobserved, he tore down the handbill and ripped it into bits. and thoughtful, though inward convulsions—whether of fear or of remorse—sucked in the corners of his mouth. Jim—a detective! Presently regaining control of himself, albeit there was a curious timbry nervousness in his voice, he answered, "No, thanks! I want to ride—then to drive."

Although Jim kept silent his pleasure in Bob's decision was reflected in his face. Moran, too, looked pleased. "You're turnin' down something easy for something hard and dirty," he warned. "Have you had any drivin' experience?"

"Can drive a flivver!" Bob boasted innocently.

"Hell," exploded Bolts, "I don't mean a lousy gas buggy—I mean a real, steam engine! A good old poundin', sweatin', lurchin', coal-swillin' Mallet or Baldwin or Cook or American!"

"No!" stammered Bob in a drawn-edged voice.

"What's your education been, son—and by that I mean pistons, not poetry—mechanics, not music? Can you tell the business end of a Stilton?"

Bob thought remotely of his B.S. from Princeton; his M.E. from Carnegie Tech; his post-graduate work at Massachusetts, during which he had invented a new type cylinder head vacuum with which these very same Mallet thoroughbreds that Moran's men fussed over and groomed like race-track pets were equipped. But circumspection's white lies ruled Bob's tongue.

"Three years high school, worked in a machine shop, fired in the boiler-room of a city utility company back east, and took lessons in 'Railroad Shop Practise' and 'How to Be an Engineer' from the International Correspondence Schools of Scrambleton," he bragged vainly. Bolts was dumbly aghast in the face of such erudition.

"Report for work seven o'clock Monday morning," he conceded, "and I'll shove a callous-stick into your fists, son. And now, so long—there goes a guy what's developed the hotbox habit an' I got a few remarks to make to him!" Eyes flaming, he bolted after a passing yardman.

"Congratulations, Bob! You lie beautifully," chuckled Jim, wondering what Bob's education and training really had been. But Bob vouchsafed no information—his enigmatic smile indicated plainly his wish to consider that avenue of discussion now closed; his firm unwillingness to reveal any of his secret past even to Jim, whom he had accepted as his best and closest friend.

The offices of the Transrockian System's Mountain Division headquarters occupied the yard-end of the spindly, roach-colored, blind-looking wooden building with long platform sheds—like insect antenna, perpetually feeling and searching before it for the shunting trains—that was ostentatiously spoken of in Crater City as "The Depot." Toward these offices, where Jim wanted to establish some facts regarding his coming resumption of duty, the friends leisurely strolled.

Bob, sitting down on an unused baggage truck outside to wait for Jim, drowsed into easy reflections; the sleepy warmth of the late afternoon, the reaction from moments of excitement, the clatter and bustle of the Yards leavened by distance into a soothing confusion of sounds, all conspired to encourage a reverie. A measure of mental peace had come to him with his decision to start life and a modest career anew here, untroubled by worldly purposes and involvements, unknown and unlikely to be hunted out. Roaming always, the slate of his life would have been ever smudgy; now it was cleaned, and the writing thereon from this day forward would be his will—not the wind's will, not a sham society's will.

Backache Flush the Kidneys

When you feel an ache in the region of the kidneys, this is the thing to do.

Flush the kidneys by drinking lots of water. The kidneys need cleansing as much as the bowels.

Drink the first glass upon rising. Add a little Jad Salts. Then you have a sparkling drink, tart and tasty.

Watch how quickly the kidneys become active, also the bowels. One hour brings results.

People don't realize how kidneys clog. How poisons are kept in the system. They deal with clogged bowels but not with clogged kidneys. That is a vast mistake.

Jad Salts activates both. They do it in a harmless, pleasant and efficient way. The results come in one hour.

Jad Salts is made from the acids of lemon and grape juice combined with lithia—just what the kidneys need.

Don't think that each backache means kidney disease. Or frequent urination. Or scant and highly colored urine. Flush the clogged kidneys and watch the results. Just as you flush the bowels when poisons accumulate, Jad Salts does both.

Try this pleasant, quick, efficient method. Nine times in ten you will find the trouble ended.

Where American Relief Funds Are Being Spent

Map Showing Centers of Near East Relief Work During Past Year

NEW YORK, Aug. 13.—Near East Relief has cleared up a deficit of $300,000 since the beginning of the current fiscal year, according to the annual report of its National Board of Trustees, which has just been published.

CAUSED BY DISASTER

This deficit, it is noted, was the result of the far-reaching refugee operations carried on by the organization since the Smyrna disaster. The society hopes to come through the current year without any similar financial embarrassment.

REACHED HALF MILLION

Although financial considerations necessitated the limitation of the work mainly to established orphanage and child-welfare work, the service of Near East relief reached 554,978 persons, and total expenditures were $3,966,329.

WIDE SUPPORT

The widespread constituency and support which the organization commands throughout the United States is indicated by the fact that during the year 467,925 official receipts were sent to contributors, and many of these receipts represented large groups of givers, in churches, clubs, or community committees.

German-Austrian Union Gets Setback Through Bitter Book

By O. D. TOLISCHUS
Universal Service Staff Correspondent

BERLIN, Aug. 11.—The Pan-German movement for a union between Germany and Austria has received a serious set-back through the book of an embittered Prussian officer in which he heaps insult after insult on his Austrian comrades which in turn has stirred the latter to violent counter-demonstrations.

All the ill-feeling between the two allies that existed during the war has been stirred up again into a new family row.

The book is entitled "Among Jailbirds and Cavaliers." The author is von Knobelsdorff, a former flying officer who during the war was attached to the Austrian armies and was sent by the Austrians in a plane to drop propaganda material behind the Russian lines. Forced to land in Russian territory, he was captured, sentenced to death, then to life-long imprisonment at hard labor and actually spent two years in various Russian prisons till the end of the war released him.

For this misfortune he blames his Austrian superiors and pours all the bitterness accumulated during his prison years over their heads.

"Whom have I to thank for all that?" he writes. "Why, the honorable gentlemen of the royal and imperial Austrian army who dared to taliby Prussian officers into their own kind, into a herd of unwarlike, uniformed musical comedy figures.

who couldn't fight but knew all the better how to run and didn't hesitate to throw mud at their friends. Such is the close-up of the people with whom we have allied ourselves. Is it any wonder that the Russians at first put us on the same level with these."

He calls them "canailles" who exploited the silent obedience of Prussian officers in the most shameless manner.

Thus it goes on for pages.

The Austrian press, especially the press opposed to the pan-German movement, immediately seized upon the book for a counter-offensive.

They represent the book as "A Document of Prussianism" and von Knobelsdorff as typical of a large class still extant in Germany whose arrogance, offensive assertion of their own worth, tactlessness of judgment and provocative tone" is still well remembered from the war.

And in one paper, Count Adalbert Sternberg calls on the former Austrian "front idealists" to "sacrifice the last drop of blood for the protection of the honor of the old army."

The agitation climaxed in a huge protest meeting of former Austrian officers presided over by General Dankl. The meeting passed a resolution demanding "satisfaction" from the "proper Prussian authorities" otherwise the Austrian officers will sever all official and social relations with the Prussian officers.

Mae Murray To Appear in Film As Modern Circe

Rin-Tin-Tin Is Feature Actor In Photodrama

Mae Murray bei eves in doing things differently. She designs her own clothes, creates all her dances and, with the aid of her director-husband, Robert Z. Leonard, selects her own stories.

Her most recently completed picture, "Circe the Enchantress," written especially for her by Vicente Flaco Ibanez, comes to the Richmond theatre today and tomorrow, and according to all reports is "keeping with Miss Murray's policy of originality."

Miss Murray's part is unusual. As Circe, she appears as the mythical goddess of Greece, who transformed men into swine and her modern prototype, a siren of New Orleans, and New York. In the latter role, she is given an opportunity of wearing more than thirty complete changes of gowns and dresses. She performs two dances in the picture which are different from anything she has previously done before the camera.

"Circe the Enchantress" is a Tiffany production released by Metro-Goldwyn.

Other features on the same program include the sixth thrilling chapter of "Days of '49" featuring Neva Gerber and Edmund Cobb; "Felix in Hollywood" a Felix, the cat, comedy.

WESLEY FILM REPLETE WITH FUN, THRILLS

After viewing the new Warner Bros. picture, "The Country Kid," starring Wesley Barry, which will be shown this evening at Wesley church, we were reminded of the old fairy tale of the magic wishing carpet, upon which you sat down and wished yourself in Mecca or some other famous city—only imagine the surprise and amazement, if by some mischance the old Hindoo had been whisked off to a real old-fashioned Yankee farm.

It is placed right before you in the full mellow light of a New England summer. The little farm with its farm house, barns and outbuildings; with its stone enclosed pastures and the cows grazing peacefully, children happily playing under the shade of a tree—it is indeed a picture that makes many of us think of our own childhood days.

But the heart of Ben Applegate, oldest of three orphan brothers, is not gay or happy. He is seriously weighed down by the care of keeping the old home together, and feeding and clothing his little family. Left alone in the world, he is heroically fighting a losing battle.

He finds a little help through a neighbor, Arthur Grant, who farms by rule and book, and who offers Ben the use of new farm implements; but things steadily go from bad to worse, and Ben is soon forced to the wall.

'Ten Commandments' Girl Kidnapped As Child, Comes Here To Make Her Home

Some books are read, and then thrown away. Some pictures are seen, and then forgotten. The life of an ordinary movie—the society drama or comedy, is about two years. Classics of literature like "Hamlet" and Emerson's "Essay on Compensation" live throughout generations and are read again and again. "The Ten Commandments" has a theme so great, a sweep so large, and is so elaborately produced that it is one of the small group of films which will never die. As a fine book can be read over and over again, so a picture like this can be looked at more than once without losing its flavor. Cecil B. DeMille's masterpiece will be shown at the California theatre beginning next Monday, for a run of 3 days, at a popular scale of prices.

Standard Tossers Again Play Nine Even Innings

ALL EFFORTS TO BRING IN WINNING RUN PROVE USELESS AS PITCHERS HURL PERFECT GAMES WITH FEW ERRORS BY SUPPORTING CAST

STANDARD OIB LEAGUE

	AB	R	H	PO	A	E
All Standards	8	5	6.15
Mechanics	6	7	.462
Refinery	5	6	.454
Barrel House	5	6	.454
A horrible aversion to the murky cellar preyed on the minds of both Chick Autry and Rod Allen yesterday so they sent the Refinery and the Barrel House, respectively, in to win the game.
Try as both might nary a runner could be sent the complete circuit during the whole nine innings, during which the approximate number of 700 howling fans sat on the edge of their seats and squawked for blood.
No claret was forthcoming, however, except from Lefty Cothran's little finger from which he pulled the nail.
The pitchers hurled a wonderful game apiece, but all the credit doesn't go to them. Their supporting casts were working marvelously. They covered all parts of the field at all times and nothing whatever within a mile of their reach got past.
Of the fielders, Zimmerman was probably the most brilliant. Running catches and one handed high spikes meant nothing in his young life. Again on the paths, Zimme looked like a bank cashier departing for Mexico on a long vacation. Just as most cashiers stop for a longer vacation in the vicinity of Los Angeles, Zimme stopped at third.
Only about three men in the whole thing got that far. Only a few more got to second, and those that got to first swelled that number by a few.
Errors were few and far between. Wolfram himself made one. He muffed an easy catch right into his hands and failed to get the runner at first. A few minutes later, Peters did the same thing. Although neither of these errors did any damage, both of them very nearly did so, as both runners advanced to third.
Lefty Cothran got himself into a hole in the ninth. The Refinery had two men on and Chick Autry shoved in two pinch hitters with one out. Dimock was the first one and he got an intentional pass. Then Onslow was put in to slap for Hansen. He was thrown out at first.
Both teams showed the only real fight displayed this year. With the ninth stanza looming and the nerves of all concerned on edge, every little technicality was brought up and Spike Elder was kept busy for some time straightening out plays. One bungle on Spike's part would have made him a dead man, but he inspired one of the best games of his career, looking over everything with a practiced eye and giving a fair decision.
This game didn't do anything at all toward settling the outcome of the league except add one more game to be played off at the end.
The scheduled league season is now at an end, but there are yet four postponed games, and two ties between the Barrel House and the Refinery to be played off.
The odds are about even in the outcome, with the All Standards having a little of the edge. But there is many a slip 'twixt the cup and the lip and the cup is not even in the hands of Charley Friend's crew.

The avowed purpose of the game is to give Tex the pick of the best for an A-1 team, but Tex had better not let his men get beaten.

PROSPECTIVE PLAYERS ARE PUT TO WORK

Football is now in full vogue at Richmond Union high school.

Cochran Hill had his pigskin crew on the field for the first work-out last night. Hitting the dummy was the principal occupation of the boys for the evening.

Taken as a whole, the team this year looks pretty light. However, lots of speed is there ready to be burnt up. The boys also appear to be pretty heady crew.

Nine letter men will be back in the lineup this year. Most of them comprised the second string last year, but they are used to Hill's style and it won't take long to get them into the swing of the thing.

Last year the high school eleven enriched its strength in bulk. This year speed will be the keynote of success.

The fundamentals of the collegiate pastime will be drilled into the embryo Babe Horrells and Red Grangers during the next two weeks. Then the actual practice for the big games of the year will get under way.

Lost men for Hill will be Dick Paasch, Charley Birch, Pat Chatton and Carl Gerhardt. Paasch has a good chance of making the St. Mary's line this year.

Carroll Pickford, R. Gopsevitz, Hastings, Sargent, and Bunny Muth will be absent from the backfield. Captain Ralph Lee is also gone.

Charles Baldwin, a newcomer, will go out for center this year. This man hails from Salinas, where he has made good. Another prospective center will be Louie Schroeder, last year's 130 pound man.

Robert Caldwell, R. Reimer, Strohmaier and Milicevich, will be out for guard. Tackles will be filled by Charley Concannon, S. W. Hutchinson, and Millcevich. Red Snyder, John Carey, Edward Carson and Speed Olsen will go out for ends.

Walter Siegel, Lowell, Rowdy Dyer, Clark Woods, John Dalton, Henry Toth, and Glen Dixon, all men of experience, will attend to the backfield.

A quantity of promising material has arrived from Junior high school. This is composed of W.H. Fisher, Mervin Gray, Frank Diamantini, James Ryan, San Luis Obispo high has sent his quota in Lawrence Hall.

Paul Villalobos has been elected manager of this year's team.

GIDEONS LISTEN TO WIERD TALES TOLD BY A CONVERTED BUDDHIST RAILROADS ASK MASONIC TEMPLE ASSOCIATION RATE INCREASE WILL OCCUPY NEW QUARTERS

Sensational disclosures of life in Burma under the Buddhist religion were the order last night at the Baptist church, when the Gideons' club listened to G. Wajia Angiel tell of experiences in his native country under his native religion.

Angiel is 76, a native of Rangoon, mysterious country of Thibet and re-he was married at the age of 20, turned to tell about it. A strange feature of Buddhism seen. His wife was purchased by his mother for thirteen cents.

"Anywhere where Christianity is not," Angiel said, "Women are cheap. They can be bought for $1.25 a dozen in Burma today."

Leaving Rangoon at the age of 15, Angiel thought he was on the way to California. Instead he arrived at San Francisco. He went at once to a Buddhist temple. There are now seven Buddhist temples in the Golden Gate city, he said.

Theology is but another name for Buddhism, according to the speaker. This religion, he said, calls for no punishment at the hands of man. If a woman lives a good life, she will return after death and become a man. If a man lives a bad life, he will return as a woman.

While being a perfectly good Buddhist monk Angiel said he was in no way restrained from use of liquor, dope or from gambling. Praying three times a day was his chief virtue.

He has six daughters, all of them missionaries in his native country. Angiel claimed to be one of the few outsiders who have gone into the program.

YOUTHS HURT AS GUN EXPLODES

BERKELEY, Aug. 13.—Edgar Armstrong, 14, of Byron, and Hugh Gaudino, 21, of 1729 Dwight Way, Berkeley Hospital Wednesday for treatment for gunshot wounds.

The boys said they were hunting near Byron when a shotgun exploded. The gun was being carried along the side of the machine when a sudden jar caused it to discharge perforating the auto door.

Shots struck young Armstrong in the abdomen and hip, while Gaudino got a number of the small pellets in the knee and hip. Both boys were declared out of danger.

Hailing a passing autist, they were driven to Berkeley.

Father Sees Child Die From Home Brew And Flees Officers

TAFT, Aug. 13.—Anticipating a raid on his home, A. L. Holmes, father of Ruby Holmes, 13, who died last week of alcoholic poisoning, following a party at which it was alleged whisky was served, has disappeared from his home. "He hasn't been seen since last Sunday and hasn't reported for work," said Deputy Sheriff Phil Fickett in charge of the case.

Mrs. Lucy Plathe, housekeeper at the Holmes home, was placed under arrest today on a contributing charge sworn out by C. P. Badger, probation officer. She is alleged to have had knowledge of the party which was said to have been held at the Panama dance hall, about 12 miles from Bakersfield, and of other persons of the kind which the girl attended officers said.

Practically All Roads West Of Chicago Join in Freight Rate Petition

(By Universal Service) WASHINGTON, Aug. 13.—Deciding that they cannot possibly earn a legal return on their investment at present freight rates, 72 railroads, including practically every interstate carrier West of Chicago have addressed an open letter to the public requesting support in an appeal to the Interstate Commerce Commission for an increase in rates of five percent.

SHOULD HAVE 11 PER CENT.

Under the present law, which provides for a return of 5 3/4 per cent, the railroads point out, they would be entitled to an increase of 11 per cent in rates. They do not, however, intend to ask for such an increase at this time. The letter reads in part:

RATES WERE CUT.

In 1920, the Commission, acting under the transportation act, established a scale of rates in Western territory calculated to provide a fair return, and although under the scale, the carriers failed to earn the amount predicted, substantial reductions in all rates were made in 1922 in anticipation of an increase in the volume of business, that would overcome the effect of these reductions.

NO INCREASE SHOWN.

This increase in net earnings has not resulted, even under the most careful economy in expenditures, and the Western group of railroads has failed to earn this fair return in any year, since the passage of the transportation act in 1920, the net results having been as follows: 1921, 3.12 per cent; 1922, 3.45 per cent; 1923, 3.96 per cent; 1924, 3.87 per cent.

SEEK FIVE PER CENT.

An advance of five per cent in freight revenues, based on the tonnage and revenues during 1924, would result in a net return of 4.62 per cent only.

Athenians Commit Suicide at rate of 10 a Week by Leap From Acropolis

ATHENS, Aug. 13.—Athens is in the grip of a suicide epidemic and the authorities are taking active steps to combat it.

Ten persons a week are committing suicide and many of them are using the top of the Acropolis as a means for accomplishing their purpose.

Any person who jumps from the 500-foot height of the Acropolis is sure of a swift death.

Poverty of City To Force Tightening of Police Requirements

OAKLAND, Aug. 13.—Following close upon the recent order of the civil service board demanding greater height and weight for firemen, Commissioner Frank Colburn today sent a memorandum to Chief of Police Drew, suggesting higher physical and mental requirements for policemen, as well as better training.

Colburn also suggested that policemen now doing clerical duty be placed on active duty, if possible, and that the records of the police department be modernized, possibly by trained clerks.

A complete tightening of the requirements in the police department is forecast, admits Colburn, partially because of coming poverty, which, he asserts, will probably demand greater service from the whole force in order to patrol the town.

Robber Pilfers Rooms Upstairs as Guests Laugh on Floor Below

OAKLAND, Aug. 13.—While guests at a dinner party were gathered in the rooms on the first floor at the Samuel Lichtenstein home, 637 Cleveland avenue, in the fashionable Lake-shore district, a burglar entered a bedroom window, ransacked the upper rooms and got away undetected with loot valued at several thousand dollars.

The skillful burglar carried away several purses which belonged to the women guests. Several hundred dollars in cash was also secured. He selected jewelry belonging to Mrs. Lichtenstein from a dressing table, picked out several costly fur coats and other articles of clothing and departed, the police were told.

GOT A FOUR POINTER

Frank Miller is back from a hunting trip into the Livermore hills with a big four-pointer buck, which weighed in the neighborhood of 135 pounds when dressed.

Directors of the Masonic Temple association met last night in a protracted session completing details of the transfer of property on the southwest corner of Eighth street and Macdonald avenue to the association.

The price of the property, formerly known as the Mechanics bank building, was not given out, but it is reported to be in the neighborhood of $100,000. The lot is 100 by 100 feet.

The Masons, it is said, intend to use the upper floor for their new quarters. This plan succeeds the original one to build a new building. Rental of stores under the lodge quarters will be continued, and the revenue is expected to make the financing of the purchase less difficult.

The directors have available $60,000 which was subscribed for stock in the new hall. Those who have not purchased any stock as yet will be given the opportunity to do so.

Among the many features that are attracting attention is the county wide race for queen. Every community in the county has its prospective queen, and the different cities are supporting their candidates in every able manner.

The Nevin avenue site already owned by the Masonic Temple association will probably be disposed of, it was announced.

Evan Griffin, representing the Griffin estate, offered the property to the association for a price that the directors believed was a good one.

The directors of the Masonic Temple Association of Richmond are: E. M. Downer, president; W. T. Helms, vice-president; C. R. Alexander, treasurer; C. C. Olney, secretary; A. D. Jones, L. M. Johnson, Harry E. Hammond, Howard Flint and W. J. Richards, Jr.

The Pinole Chamber of Commerce is giving this celebration for the purpose of completing the Library and Fire House Building Fund. In their endeavor they have received the support of the different chambers of commerce bodies throughout the county, as well as the Richmond Merchants association. It is their purpose to give a celebration that will be enjoyed by all, and that will be remembered as a success in their first attempt for city improvement.

Plans were inaugurated by Richmond Lodge, Brotherhood of American Yeomen, for an appropriate reception of the foreman, Mrs. Lola Carey Brown, when she returns from her honeymoon in the near future.

The reception will take place at the next meeting, Thursday, August 27, in Richmond hall. Mrs. H. Bryant was named chairman of the committee to make arrangements for the affair.

The Yeomen held their first meeting in Richmond hall last night. This hall has been selected as the future home of the organization. Musician's hall was formerly occupied.

The meeting was presided over by Past Foreman, Fred Bryant in the absence of the regular foreman. Regular business was transacted.

The Lawrence Warehouse company of Oakland has leased a warehouse between the Santa Fe yards and the Standard Oil plant from the L. A. Frazier company of Richmond. The Oakland concern will use the warehouse for storage purposes, it was stated in records filed yesterday in Martinez.

Schwartz Story Closed by Jury

CONFESS TO BE EVIDENCE

(By Universal Service)

OAKLAND, Aug. 13.—A coroner's inquest brought to a close the "too perfect crime" story of Charles Henry Schwartz today, when a jury gained one point, however, when Judge Louderback gave defense attorney permission to examine the girl in her cell tonight.

This ruling was made today by Superior Judge Harold Louderback, after the attorneys for the defense had attempted to have the confession ruled out of court. The defense gained one point, however, when Judge Louderback gave defense attorney permission to examine the girl in her cell tonight.

The state closed its case this afternoon and the defense at once got under way in an attempt to show that the girl was temporarily insane when she committed the crime.
